WHAT'S THIS AROUND THE CORNER?

What's this young thing we hear chirping hopefully around the corner? What means the cheering rustle of a wee mite o, dynamic potentiality, crowning out the Au Revoirs of the final sheet of an ebbing era?

WHY , 'TIS AN INFANT. 'TIS A NEWBORN BABE. 'TIS YOUNG and WINSOME and ENCHANTING. 'TIS 1934.

What wordage we might outpour as Father Time stirs up his archive s of T1545 and juggles forth a new calendar. Wha. huzzahs of greeting, allowing scant space to lament the bowed of decrepid 1933.

You'll soon be writing 1934 in place of 1933. Why? Be cause another era has ended. 1933 was the water-shed, the "TURNING POINT" year of America. While Europe and Asia turned their thoughts to preparations for another great war America, under a virile new leadership, reared back in it. tracks and turned its face from depression to rebuilding a new era of prosperity.

1934, then, comes joyfully and hopefully, the year of the recovery and new enlargement of the horizon of living.

Forward into a NEW YEAR, let our nation go with with it! feet firmly empianted on the rugged rock of principle our fore fathers proved to be right. Good luck to you all and a happ; 1934.

SIGN THE CONTRACTS

It has been said that Uncle Sam isn't going to allow a few farmers to injure the efforts and cooperation of the majorit, by refusing to sign crop reduction contracts. Forceful mean might be used on the minority.

Appomattox county tobacco growers are of the coopera tive kith. They are responding splendidly to the profter i acreage and production contracts by Uncle Sam. Those no already signed up will do so promptly, so the markets can re open with brighter cheer. Let's finish the contract signin, this week, the first 100 per cent county in the dark belt.

A PAT ON THE BACK

The school board and superintendent of Appomattox d serve public praise for the speed and business-like manner i which school projects for this county were prepared, submitte to and okehed by the Civil Works administration. Near every school in the county will get done that we thought onl future years would come about. The job is being done NOW The Times-Virginian offers its congratulations, not only to th school project workers, but to the entire Civil Works staff i this county .

ONE-THIRD OFF

The routine used to be as follows: Thanksgiving expens Christmas expense, and to cap the climax, new auto tags. Thes three financial puzzles revolved in rapid order in November December and January. But it's "one-third off" now, an you'll have a little breathing spell before you have to bu 1934 auto tags.

BANKING CHANGES

Tremendous changes in banking have been the order o the day since March 4. Within a year, the entire banking sys tem of the nation will virtually have been made over.

Banking codes, a puzzle to the average depositor, either have or will go into effect shortly, which will install a system of changes effecting every depositor. Charges will be mad for handling small accounts, as one of the most important fea tures. This will be followed up January 1 by deposit guaran tees.

The public should inform itself in regards to the changes in banking and keep abreast of the movement.

PROVING GROUND

Congress meets in a few days. And what that might mea no one knows. Congress was very docile last March, when the upper hand of patronage control kept the vicferous quiet and an unparalleled amount of legislation was enacted and lmost dictatirial powers granted the president.

Congress, first of all, should allow the orderly continuance of the recovery program of the president. That's the first du ty. And in discussing that phase of business, the accomp lishments since March 4 will run a guantlet of close scrutn.. It will be the "proving ground" of the New Deal.

E.R. Combs Named

Richmond, Dec. 28.—E. R. Combs, state comptroller, today took over his new duties as Reconstruction Finance Corpocation manager of the Richmond district, which includes Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, with headquarters in this city. Mr. Combs succeeds o a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of J. K. Loughton, w h o is to become co-ordinator of farm credit agencies for the Baltimore district. Mr. Combs' new salary will be $8,400 a year.

Acting promptly, Governor Pollard issued a commission to A. B. Galtbright to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Combs, whose vacancy will be filled by Governor-elect Peery upon his assumption of office. Mr. Gathright is regarded as a most efficient official. He h a s been long with the state and has been assistant comptroller under the Combs management of fiscal affairs at the seat of government here.

Mr. Combs, who was almost a lifelong political and personal friend of the late Henry C Stuart, is a native of Russell county and an outsanding political leader in Virginia. No man in the state is closer to senator Harry F. Byrd, and no man in public life enjoys a wider or more richly deserved popularity in Virginia.

Beginning life as a school eacher Mr. Combs became clerk of Russell county. In 925 he was elected president f the Virginia Court Clerks' Association. He resigned his Russell county office in 1927 to accept that of state comptroller at Richmond. He is a member of t h e state finance board and of the board of sinking fund commissioners of Virginia. Before coming with th state he was a director in tie first National Bank of Lebanon and vice president and direct- of the People's Bank of Cleveland.

In the advancement of Mr. Combs to federal office Virginia oses a tireless, efficient and highly honored servant. No man in the service of the state more popular. He is regarded as one who would lend dig ity to any office.

Babcock's Celebrate Golden Wedding

January 2nd is Fiftieth Anniversary For H. C. Babcock's

On January 2, 1884, Homer Curtis Babcock and Rose Blanche Babcock were united in marriage at Beckham, Virginia, by a Reverend Mr. Potts. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Washington Moore, the parents of the bride.

Homer Babcock was then a handsome young blade (he insists that he still is) who had just returned from Wisconsin. According to one story he captivated t h e only daughter of "Marse Bill" Moore by the tall tales he told of his adventures among the Indians of the far North. Other contemporaries testify however, that "the young fellow from Concord" hung around Beckham so much that "Marse Bob" persuaded his daughter to marry him to get rid of him. T. Burge Moore, a brother of the bride, says that Homer gave a negro half a dollar to hold his horse for him during the ceremony, then had to borrow the half dollar back afterwards.

Anyway, that was fifty years ago, so next Tuesday, January 2, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Babcock will observe their golden wedding anniversary here in Appomattox, and they should be happy to have friends and acquaintances drop in to help them enjoy the occasion.

Mrs. H. C. Babcock was the only daughter of Robert Washington Moore and Hester Anne Burge. Three of her brothers are now living: T. Burge Moore, of Oakville; Fletcher Moore, of Stapleton; and C. A. Moore, of Beckham. Mr. Babcock was a son of Bradley Whitney Babcock ,of Concord, and Miss Cardwell. He has three brothers living: The Rev. James O. Babcock, B. C. Babcock and F. E. Babcock.

The couple have eight children living: R. W., T. H., B. W., Havilah, A. Babcock; Mrs. F. L. Murphy, Rebecca, Mrs. J. L. Cates.

H. C. Babcock has been long a n d prominently identified with the political, civic and business life of this section. He is a highly successful farmer, merchant, and tobacconist. Probably more than any other one man he was responsible for the thriving tobacco business Appomattox formerly enjoyed. Among the things he is proud of is that he has been a steward in the Methodist church for almost forty years.

Mrs. Babcock is known throughout the county as a Good Samaritan, always ready to give her unstinted support to good causes and to lend a sympathetic a n d practical interest to those who have suffered hardship or distress.

The Times-Virginian joins with the innuerable friends of this fine couple in wishing them on the occasion of their golden anniversary everything they might wish for themselves.

Civil Works Going On At Brookneal

Brookneal, Dec. 27.—An extensive civil works program has been started in Brookneal in connection with the school grounds. Excavation, leveling off and construction of a playground is in progress with at present twenty men and six-teen head of horses and mules employed, and the work is under the foremanship of M. L. Booth. All work is to be done by hand tools. The object being to give employment to as many men as possible and the work program is to be completed in thirteen weeks.

Davis—Wood

Pamplin, Dec. 27.—Edward Frank Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Davis of Pamplin, and Miss Mary Pauline Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Wood, of Worsham, were married last night at the Baptist parsonage here, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. M. Black. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside at Pamplin.

Funeral of J. E. Peters

Gladstone, Dec. 27.—The funeral of J. E. Peters, 73, who died suddenly at his home near here, December 20, was conducted by the Rev. Gray Liggan at Mineral Springs Baptist church, December 22, at 2:30 p. m. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. L. C. Smith, of Richmond, Mrs. M. E. Jones, of Amherst, Mrs. C. E. Dixon and Mrs. A. L. Spain of Appomattox, Mrs. Lucy Shrader, of Richmond, also Carson and John Peters, of this place. One sister also survives him, Mrs. T. F. Jones and one brother, J. L. Peters, of Allen's Creek.

Leaders of the movement to sign up Virginia growers of dark fire-cured tobacco under the production control agreement have recorded their satisfaction at progress alreac made with about 75 per cent of the potential crop now under contract.

Secretary E. D. Brooks, of the Dark Fired Growers' Cooperative Association said that the Virginia crop of this type probably would be limited to 20,000,000 pounds annually which is about 5,000,000 pounds below his estimates for the present crop. It is hoped that a 15 cent per pound average price can be obtained when the markets reopen in January, as compared with a 6 cent average when they were closed under an executive order issued by Governor Pollard at request of the growers.

Cookies

ANYONE who has never made cookies has missed a bit of fun—rolling, cutting, sprinkling with sugar and seeing them come out of the oven golden and glistening. Anyone who has never eaten cookies—but everyone eats cookies. No one seems to know just where cookies came from, and no one knows where they go so fast, when the cooky jar is full on Saturday and empty by Monday.

Time to Bake

If you were in Germany Saturday morning, you might be taking lebkuchen or kranze in Denmark, bursted cakes, and in Sweden, some sort of spritz cookies. Here at home, at this season, minee cookies are a favorite. Here is a recipe that is simple to make and most savory and spicy to eat:

Filled mince cookies. Cream one cup shortening and two cups brown sugar. Add two well beaten eggs. Add one-half cup sour milk alternately with the following sifted dry ingredients: four cups pastry flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon soda. Chill. Roll thin and cut in small rounds. On half of them put a spoonful of canned mincemeat and cover with the other halves. Press edges together and bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—about ten minutes.

Canned Applesauce

APPLESAUCE, like eggs, is either good or it isn't good—there is no middle course. It is either tart, sweet and tasty —a very delicious dish—or it is tasteless and not worth eating.

Have you ever spent time peeling, cutting, and cooking apples, only to find that you might as well have saved yourself the bother because your applesauce has turned out a very uninteresting dish? Don't blame yourself —blame the apples. For some apples were made to cook and retain their delicious flavor while others either had no flavor to begin with, or lost it in the cooking.

Canners know this, and they are more fortunate than the housewife in that they can select the seed, the soil, the climate—everything that goes into the growing of the apples which will go into the sauce. That is why a good brand of canned apple sauce is so often superior to the applesauce you make at home. There are many delicious ways to serve apple sauce other than as merely a sauce.

A Tested Recipe

Frozen Applesauce and Cider is a delicious condiment to roast meats—especially with duck. Dissolve one-fourth package of lime gelatin in one-half cup boiling cider and add one and one-half tablespoons sugar. Add the contents of one 8-ounce can of applesauce and one cup of cold cider. Freeze only slightly hard.

WHAT BANKING WENT THROUGH

By JOHN H. PUELICHER
American Bankers Association

BANKING in its long career has been compelled to withstand many serious shocks, but it ran into the most perplexing entanglement of its whole history since the break-down of values in 1929. The commercial structure of the entire world seemed to have been shaken from its foundations and the marvel is that the banker, with everything breaking down all around him, was able to come through as he has.

J. H. PUELICHER

General business failures, agricultural stagnation, income losses, capital losses, inabilities to meet debts and therefore inabilities of bankers to pay back depositors when loans were not paid, were the reasons, in most instances, for the bank failures.

No profession, no department of life is without its weaker elements, but had proper consideration been given to the relatively few instances in banking, had exaggerated and startling headlines been kept in true proportion, had banking not been used as a target for political self-seeking and with vote-seeking motives, had unfounded rumors not been spread the people's confidence might have been retained and far less serious would have been their financial losses, for many bank failures were caused that need not have happened.

There were factors in our banking experience which every earnest banker deplores—factors which many had worked years to eliminate, which it was fearfully recognized would aggravate any difficult days which might arise. One of the worst of these was due to political regulation which chartered many banks that should never have been chartered.

That there have been incompetence and dishonesty in banking is admitted. That the instances that did occur were used grossly to increase fear in the public mind, we affirm. We shall continue to strive for higher attainments in our profession and strive for laws that require competence and ability in management. That we cannot legislate honesty and unselfishness into either a banker or a borrower must be conceded, but dishonesty, wherever found, should be punished. It is as true in banking as elsewhere that no matter how good the law, dishonest and incompetent men can make it ineffective. Good laws are essential. We must strive for ever better ones, but their enforcement will come only as the public recognizes that it is a matter not of laws or codes alone but of the men who administer them.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reason?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit. You need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a good liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative is one that's effect is prompt, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may be in you constipated so long as you keep on using it and the chances are it is irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pill- and tablets may prove injurious.

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will put you a lot A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be "as regular as clockwork." Dr. Caldwell's syrup Pepsin is an approved liquic laxative which all druggists were ready for use It makes an ideal family laxative, effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child. BABY FOODS

"CONSULT your physician" are the three words that we hear most often in the study of baby welfare. So important is this advice that one of New York's most prominent baby specialists has printed on every diet list issued from his office these words: "This diet is for your child at this time, and for no other child at any time."

All of which means that babies are individualists. Mothers have come to recognize this fact, and because there are free clinics as well as expensive baby specialists, babies everywhere are getting their individual rights.

A New Line of Canned Foods

The most favorable indication of this progress in baby welfare is the fact that reliable food manufacturers no longer turn out a product and label it "good for baby" without medical assurance that it is good. "Consult your physician" is the rule of the conscientious food dealer as well as of the conscientious mother. An example of this is the service given by a well-known manufacturer of good foods, of a new line of baby foods including tomato juice, spinach, carrots, peas, green beans and mixed vegetables. These foods were developed in collaboration with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research and the bookl "scribing the foods was written and edited with medical supervision after a thorough examination of the processing of the foods, and they have been granted the seal of acceptance of the American Medical Association.

Because the facts in this booklet are scientifically correct, we are passing here some of them which will be of interest to mothers:

"If babies are to enjoy health, vigor, even dispositions—and stomachs must be sturdy, active, happy childhood—they need certain vitamins and body-building foods which contain the various essential vitamins.

"Without vitamin A, resistance to infection diseases is poor. Lacking vitamin B, growth is stunted. Denied vitamin C, scurvy may develop. Furthermore with a partial deficiency of any vitamin, malnutrition with less definite symptoms results. Thus, it is of paramount importance that the babies diet includes these healthful vitamins.

"As mothers know, these all-important vitamins are found abundantly in certain vegetables such as spinach, carrots, peas and green beans. Vegetables supply iron greatly needed by the infants. Vegetables are also good sources of calcium and phosphorus, which are the principal building materials of bones and teeth. Moreover they are of much interest and as to the health of time to continue serving strained foods, decisive influence in the child's general health and tooth development."

"Mothers know, too, the hours upon hours of work required to cook these foods properly and to strain the vegetables finely for baby's meals. First vegetables must be carefully selected and washed. Then cooking must be constantly watched. Cooking utensils must be steamin—and steamin over time and strength and patience are required in rubbing the vegetables through fine sieves when these foods are prepared at home.

"And fresh vegetables of sufficiently high quality, for babies feeding cannot always be secured all the year round."

Get Medical Advice

The new line of strained vegetables are said to be cooked, strained and packed under ideal conditions that will preserve the essential vitamins and nutritive qualities and they are ready for heating and instant use.

And with all of this care in preparing, this manufacturer who prides himself on his reputation advises mothers to "consult your physician or baby specialist." Ask him the best time to start your baby on vegetables, on the manner of serving them—diluted or undiluted—and as to the length of time to continue serving strained foods, for—and on the child's general health and tooth development."
